MBA-Bridge Course Report-2022

Bridge Course is a short intensive course conducted for new joiners of MBA before the commencement of First semester classes. It is aimed to bridge the gap between the subjects studied at under graduation and post-graduation. It is designed to bring all the students from various domains under single umbrella of management courses. Bridge course for the academic year 2022-23 was planned for four days starting from 15-11-2022 to 23-11- 2022 to provide strong foundation for core subjects such as Economics, Accounts and Statistics. Respective faculties handled the bridge course classes for their respective subjects and briefed about the basic concepts which is mandatorily required for the management students that will help them to understand the subject in future and also to enhance their analytical skills. Around 95 students participated for the bridge course programme and many activities are conducted by the faculty members including Experiential Communication lab, Psychometric analysis, etc. some awareness sexual harassment and ragging was given to students. Students were given pre and post-test for the subjects like economics, accounts and statistics and they were assessed based on the performance. Feed-back was also been taken for the bridge course programme in order to evaluate the effectiveness of the programme and also to improve the standards for the coming sessions.

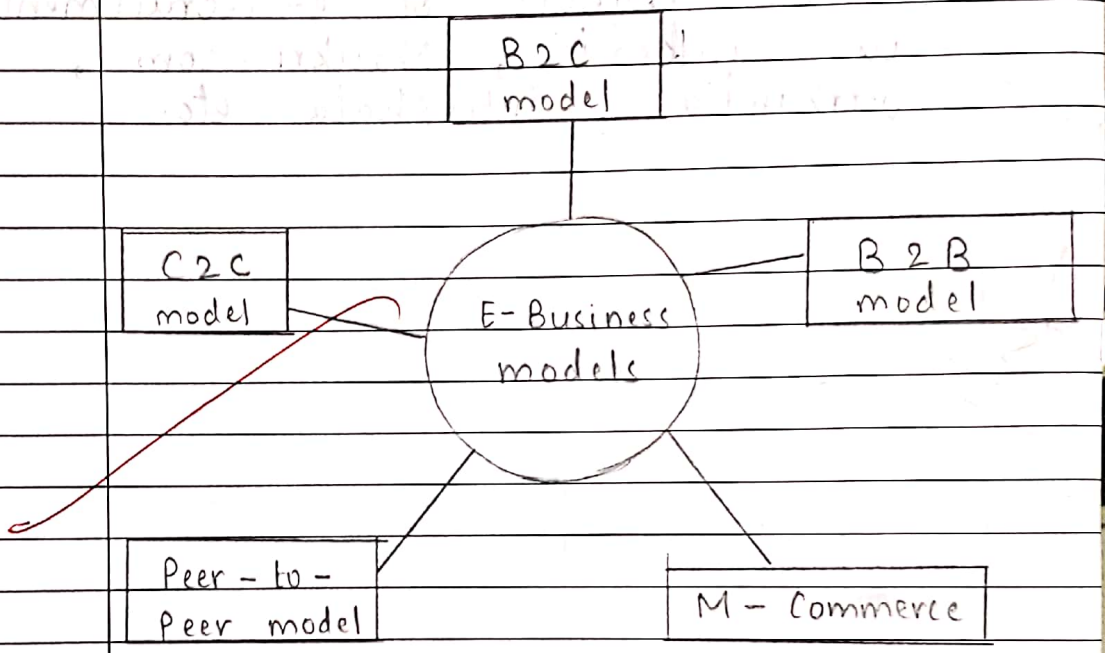
2) Classify e-business models and discuss with suitable examples.

Ans. E-business models are of fives types. They are as follows :-



In the above diagram we can see that there are five different models of e-business that vary from each another.

(1.) B2C (Business to consumer) :
B2C stands for Business to consume The organisation or the business sells its product or service directly to the consumer. There is no middle-man or intermediator in between them.
For example - Amazon, Flipkrat comes under Business to consu model.

(2) B2B (Business to Business) :
B2B stands for Business to Business. In this model one organisation deals with the business relationship with other organisation. The sharing of goods and services in between the business organisation is called B2B model.
For example – In pimpri market theis are many wholeseller who directly sell their goods in bulk to the businessmen only.

(3) C2C (Consumer to Consumer) :
C2C stands for consumer to consumer. The business model where one consumer or customer sells his/her product to another consumer. The act of exchanging goods and services from one consumer to the other is called as C2C model.
For example – E-Bay, OLX etc.

(4) Peer - to - Peer : Peer - to - Peer model defines as one group of organisation selling & buying from another group of organisation.

Methods of Digital payment :-

1. Banking cards
2. Unstructured supplementary service Data
3. Aadhar Enabled payment system
4. Unified payments interface (UPI)
5. Mobile wallets
6. Bank prepaid cards
7. Internet banking
8. Mobile banking
9. Micro ATMs

Explanation :-

1. Banking cards :-
   use of banking cards or debit / credit cards or prepaid cards, as an alternative to cash payments

2. Unstructured Supplementary Service data (USSD) :-
   USSD was launched for those sections of India's population which don't have access to proper banking & internet facilities. Under USSD, mobile banking transactions are possible without an internet connection by simply dialing *99# on any essential feature phone.

Q.2 Define E-Commerce. Discuss B2B & B2C models with Examples

Ans → Introduction :-

Electronic Commerce or e-Commerce is a business model that lets firms and individuals buy & sell things over the internet

(I) Business to business
(II) Business to Consumer
(III) Consumer to Consumer
(IV) Consumer to business.

Whereas e-business refers to all aspects of operating on online business, ecommerce refers specifically to the transaction of goods & services.

Defination :-

(1) E-Commerce :-
E-Commerce is the activity of electronically buying & selling of product on online services or over the internet

(2) E-Business :-
E-Business is any kind of business or Commercial transaction that includes sharing information across the internet.

Limitations of E commerce :

(1) Security :
One of the main limitation of ecommerce is security. In most cases people are hesitant to provide their personal & financial details in spite of advanced data encryption security system in place nowadays, there are some websites that do not have the capability & features installed to authenticate transactions. As such, there are instances of fraudulent activities etc.

(2) Lack of privacy :
You need to provide your all personal details like address, telephone no. & so on to the seller. There are still lots of sites that do not have the advanced technology to protect sensitive information.

(3) Tax issue :
In case of different geographical location sale tax becomes an issue. many a time sellers have faced problems in the computation of sales tax moreover, physical store have a risk of losing business if online transaction are exempted from taxation.

④ Fear :-
In spite of popularity, there still resides an element of doubt in the mind of people when it comes to online shopping

⑤ Product Suitability :-
It is not possible for people to physically examine the product in ecommerce.

⑥ Cultural obstacles :-
Customers across the globe, the habits traditions, & culture differ

⑦ High labour cost :-
In order to get the whole ecommerce & delivery process right, a specialized workforce is required.

⑧ Legal issues :-
A lot of legal compliances & cyber laws need to be taken care of in an ecommerce business.

⑨ Technical limitations :-
ecommerce requires advanced technology platforms for better performance. Some limitations, such as lack of proper domain, network & software issues.

Introduction

- Organizations have now been applying technologies based on the Internet, World Wide Web and wireless communications to transform their businesses for over 15 years since the creation of the first web site (http://info.cern.ch) by Sir Tim Berners-Lee in 1991.
- Deploying these technologies has offered many opportunities for innovative e-businesses to be created based on new approaches to business.
- Table 1.1 highlights some of the best-known examples and in Activity 1.1 you can explore some of the reasons for success of these e-businesses.

- For the author, e-business and e-commerce is an exciting area to be involved with, since many new opportunities and challenges arise yearly, monthly and even daily. Innovation is a given, with the continuous introduction of new technologies, new business models and new communications approaches.
- For example, Google innovates relentlessly. Its service has developed a long way since 1998 (Figure 1.1) with billions of pages now indexed and other services such as web mail, pay per click adverts, analytics and social networks all part of its offering. Complete Activity 1.1 or view Table 1.1 to see other examples of the rate at which new innovations occur.

E-business innovation and opportunity

- Since Google was launched in 1998 which e-business start-ups have transformed the way we work, live and play?
- How has Google innovated in search and its business table?
- See Table 1.1 for some of major innovators

The impact of the Internet on business

- Andy Grove, Chairman of Intel, one of the early adopters of e-commerce, has made a meteorological analogy with the Internet. He says:

  Is the Internet a typhoon force, a ten times force, or is it a bit of wind? Or is it a force that fundamentally alters our business? (Grove, 1996)

E-business opportunities

- Reach
  - Over 1 billion users globally
  - Connect to millions of products
- Richness
  - Detailed product information on 20 billion + pages indexed by Google. Blogs, videos, feeds…
  - Personalized messages for users
- Affiliation
  - Partnerships are key in the networked economy
